Business Report

Fully describe the business's activities?

The business retails beds, headboards, pillows, linen and related bedding requirements to the public. It also wholesales beds, pillows and collateral accessories to the medical fraternity who recommend its sleep products.

How does the business operate on a daily basis?

From a retail perspective, the business stocks a range of quality and affordable bespoke bed sets and accessories which address the comfort needs of all households as well as a range for those requiring therapeutic sleep surfaces under the direction of a medical practitioner. From a wholesale perspective, the business supplies therapeutic sleep surfaces and related items directly to medical professionals for resale. The business operates a point of sale system which automatically updates stock holding after each transaction and eliminates any possibility of stock shrinkage.

What Advertising/Marketing is carried out?

Currently publicity is driven by word of mouth recommendation and a website presence. A new website has recently become operational which will assist in creating greater awareness of the business. In addition the business is located in a high traffic location facing a parking lot and at the entrance to a major national retail chain.

What competition exists?

In the broader neighbourhood there is one other bed store. However, the business for sale carries a range of specialist therapeutic products with little or no competition and other unique bedding brands not generally available in most other bed stores.

How could the profitability of the business be improved?

Profitability could be improved by stimulating demand for the products, such as:

- targeting relevant medical practices for endorsement and recommendation
 - increasing the social media presence of the business
 - launching an online sales portal and fulfilment service
 - mining current and past customer databases
 - extending credit terms through an association with a credit provider
- employing a dedicated salesperson
