What are the main assets of the business?

The main assets of the business are: 2 x Peugeot Boxer vans, large trailer, heavy duty shelving, mobile book cabinets, drop safe.

A full asset register is available to qualified buyers.

Strengths?

Huge database of ready and waiting customers (school learners).

2025 = 115 Book Fairs hosted.

As of March 2026, 30 Book Fairs already held/secured.

High demand and level of client interest in KZN, with growing interest from Gauteng and Eastern Cape due to efficiently run Book Fairs, prompt and warm client communication, experienced and professional facilitators, stock variety and competitive pricing.

Convenience for parents and schools (children buy books during school day).

Supportive towards school Literacy Development drives – Book Fairs provide great social media content for schools; host school earns 10% of total sales back in books which supports librarians/teachers who do not have school budgets to spend.

Smooth operating systems.

Vibrant and attractive Book Fair set up. Different to all competitors making it very unique and appealing.

South African suppliers available.

South African authors familiar with this business and stock taken on consignment.

Can be relocated and run from anywhere. Owner can work from home.

Facilitators can manage 80% of business.

BOOKS WILL ALWAYS BE A NEED FOR YOUNG CHILDREN – PARENTS DO NOT WANT DEVICES AT THE DEVELOPMENTAL AGE.

Weaknesses?

There is a level of reliance on the host school to effectively market and advertise their Book Fair to support sales; ongoing communication is essential.

Opportunities?

Sideline retail outlets for smaller but regular turnover.

Corporates and charity organisations who may purchase for tax write offs or donations.

Book Fair product add-ons to include other educational items.

Cater for high school and adult readers.

Extend further into Mpumalanga and Limpopo. (already begun).

Threats?

Competition from other Book Fair businesses.

Exchange rate (at times).

What is the reason for the sale?

Owners have relocated and are not in a location conducive to sustaining effective management. Seeking different business opportunities closer to home.
