How does the business operate on a daily basis?

Daily operations are structured around a workshop-based repair workflow. Vehicles are booked in, assessed on arrival, and allocated for repair based on urgency and approval status.

Work is prioritised between insurer-approved jobs and private client bookings, ensuring steady workflow management throughout the day.

Approximately 50% of work is derived from established insurance contracts with traditional in-direct insurers while the remaining 50% comes from private clients.

The business is also factory approved with Hyundai and Mazda, supporting dealership-related work and manufacturer-standard repair requirements.

Technicians are assigned specific repair stages including preparation, panel work, painting and finishing. Quality control checks are completed before vehicle release. Administrative staff manage insurer communication, approvals, invoicing and customer updates, ensuring smooth daily operations.

Give a breakdown of staff/ functions/ length of service?

The business operates with a small, structured workshop team led by a hands-on manager who is also a qualified panel beater.

Key roles include an estimator responsible for assessing damage, preparing quotes and liaising with insurers and customers.

A spray painter manages all paintwork, colour matching and refinishing processes to manufacturer standards.

Panel beaters carry out non-structural repairs, ensuring vehicles are restored to pre-accident condition.

Additional workshop workers support preparation, sanding, assembly and general repair tasks to ensure smooth workflow and turnaround efficiency.

The team operates in a coordinated production-style environment with clear role allocation, enabling consistent output quality and efficient job processing.

Do any have management potential?

Yes the manager

How involved is the Owner in running the business?

The owner is minimally involved in day-to-day operations and is largely absentee from the business.

Operational management is handled by on-site staff and the workshop manager, who oversees daily workflow, staff coordination and production output.

The owner's involvement is mainly limited to financial oversight and high-level administrative functions, with no regular operational input.

The business is therefore effectively run independently by the management team, with established systems in place to ensure continuity of operations without active owner participation.

This structure provides a semi-passive ownership model, where performance is driven by staff and operational processes rather than direct owner involvement.

When does the current lease end?

The current lease agreement runs until 31 July 2027, providing medium-term security of tenure for operations.

Rental payments are due monthly and payable on the 7th of each month.

The lease structure supports business stability and allows sufficient time for operational planning and growth within the existing premises.

What is the reason for the sale?

The sale is due to the owner reaching retirement age.

The owner is 74 years old and wishes to consolidate his business interests. In addition, the Somerset West location requires regular travel from Cape Town, and he is seeking to reduce his operational commitments and focus on opportunities closer to home.

The decision is driven by succession planning and reducing operational commitments, rather than any issues with performance or trading conditions.

The business is stable and operational, but the owner wishes to step back from ongoing involvement and focus on personal consolidation.
